"Merry Christmas" – Let's Explore Different Languages 1 Learning Stamp

Christmas is celebrated in many different countries, all around the World. For this challenge, we would like you to use your research skills and learn how to say "Merry Christmas" in different languages.

For your learning stamp, you will need to list the 5 languages you have chosen, write down the phrase, practice it and then, if possible, record a short video to submit for your learning stamp, or demonstrate your new language skills to your class teacher.

Cardboard Christmas 1 Learning Stamp

For this challenge, design and then create your own Cardboard Christmas.

You might decide to:

- Build a cardboard Christmas tree & decorate with cardboard decorations.
- Design a cardboard Christmas wreath.
- Create your own Christmas scene.

The possibilities are endless.

Christmas Science with Dr Jo 1 Learning Stamp

If you're keen on Science, Dr Jo has created some wonderful Christmas science experiments.

- Light up Christmas Card
- Walking Rudolph
- Snowmen Bath Bombs
- Lava Lamp Snowman
- Seasonal shadow puppets

You can find all the information on completing these activities if you visit www.drjosciencesolutions.co.uk then click on the Children's University page.

To claim your learning stamp, contact Dr Jo, through the link provided on the website, to let her know which experiment you completed, and she will issue your learning stamp code.
